

The Faculty of Intensive Care Medicine

FICM ACCP National Conference

12 June 2023

Poster Competition Template

Poster Competition

Showcase your local projects, share knowledge, and stimulate debate at the next annual ACCP conference.

The Louise Houslip Award was introduced at the last conference to memorialise Louise Houslip, a trainee ACCP who was tragically lost at sea during a diving expedition. FICM presented the family with an honorary FICM membership for their daughter, and a presentation was given about Louise by Dan Higgins. Louise was passionate about research, continually striving for improvement in all that she did, and so it was agreed this award would be an annual event, given for the best work in research and service improvement within the ACCP community.

This year will be the first of the annual Louise Houslip Award and FICM are now accepting Poster Presentation submissions for the FICM ACCP Conference at the RCoA on June 12th 2023.

We are giving ACCP teams a chance to present their research, audit, case reports and practice innovations, that demonstrate progression in the world of ACCPs and Critical Care.

- Posters and case reports may contain new research on a topic presented previously.
- Posters may be submitted where data gathering is still in progress.
- The poster must fit one side of A3 as this is the size it will be printed and displayed.
- Submission of a poster constitutes a commitment by the author(s) to be present at the conference to answer questions on their project as accepted.
- All abbreviations must be defined at first use except for the very well-known.
- The template is to be used as a guide. If using your own layout, please ensure that you include:
  - ◊ Title
  - ◊ Author names
  - ◊ Organisation logo (optional)
  - ◊ Introduction
  - ◊ Objectives and methods
  - ◊ Results
  - ◊ Conclusions
  - ◊ References
- Consent to publish:
  - ◊ Individuals – if the abstract contains details relating to individual participants – for example a case report – written informed consent for the publication of these details must be obtained from the participant(s) and emailed to us.
  - ◊ Participants – posters at the ACCP Conference may be published on the FICM website, via @FICMNEWS Twitter and in the Critical Eye.
- The poster deemed the best on the following criteria will be the winner of the Louise Houslip Award (prize TBC) .

Email your poster by 5 June 2023 to contact@ficm.ac.uk with these details:

- Name(s):
- Job Title(s):
- Organisation:
- Location (city/country):
- Email Address(es):
- Twitter:
- Bio(s): 100 words written in the third person
- Photo: a high-resolution colour headshot photo of yourself
- Consent to publish: – written informed consent for the publication of these details must be obtained from the participant(s) and emailed to us.
- Confirmation of attendance to the conference

Title

Authors

<sup>1</sup> Affiliations

Introduction

Objectives and Methods

Objectives

Methods

Results

Include main results

Can include figures/tables or diagrams in here

Conclusions

References